ACCIDENTAL BLOW KILLS SMALL BOY

Youngster at Play in a School Yard is Struck on the Head, Falls to the Ground and Dies From Concussion of the Brain.
—Parents are Distracted.

At a few minutes after ten o'clock this morning George Jacob Hunter, the 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Hunter of Taylor Ward, died at the Ogden general hospital, after passing through an operation for concussion of the brain. The boy was brought to the hospital this morning at two o'clock and the operation was soon after performed. Clots of blood were found on the brain and death was inevitable.

The boy's death was caused through an accident that happened on the Taylor school grounds last Wednesday during the noon hour. He was watching other larger boys play guinea peg. The peg that was being used was a large one and the stick of the boy striking it was a piece of a wagon spoke, and very heavy. The peg was struck a terrific blow and it flew in the direction of the Hunter boy, who undertook to dodge, but failed. The peg struck the unfortunate lad squarely upon the left temple and he fell to the ground. He arose, however, and finally made his way home. Since that time the boy remained in a semi-conscious condition until death brought relief. He was kept at the home until this morning, the attending physician thinking he was getting along all right. It is said that the blow did not make a single mark on the head, yet it caused concussion of the brain.

The parents are distracted over the untimely death of the little fellow, and the boy who struck the guinea peg is heartbroken. Funeral services will be held at the West Weber meeting house Monday at 11 o'clock in the morning.

JARBIDGE NOW UNDER DEEP SNOW

Peery Brothers' Ranch is Within Five Miles of the Rich Gold Camp—Ogden Men Send a Representative to Determine the Merits of the Discoveries.

The Peery brothers of this city are interested in the new mining camp of Jarbidge, Nevada, having a stock ranch within five miles of the place. Horace Peery visited the ranch last fall and doing so passed over the Jarbidge country. He was strongly impressed with the formation, and says that at that time he thought the country would yet be known as a rich mineral section. Since the "boom" there the Peerys have become interested in the outcome of the country from a mining point of view, and they now have a representative on the ground looking out for their interests.

About three weeks ago they employed Ben Luce, an experienced miner of this section of the country, and one who has had much to do with the mining camps of Nevada, and sent him to the Jarbidge country for the sole purpose of looking into the mining conditions there. He has reached the camp after a long and tedious journey, attended by hardships incident to traveling over mountain roads in the winter season. A letter received from Mr. Luce this morning is of interest to those engaged in mining, and particularly those who have an eye on Jarbidge. It follows:

"I have sampled the Bourne strike from top to bottom, but it likely will be two or three days before I can get my assays out. There are three assays out here, but none of them are set up yet. The appearance of the Bourne strike is far better than I expected, and if the average in values is good, it is the biggest surface showing I have ever seen. As far as I have been able to determine and sample, the croppings are from 50 to 60 feet wide and 200 feet long.

"The vein is not a 'seam' proposition, and I believe the values are well distributed throughout the entire ledge. They have a tunnel on the ledge and are in, under cover, 20 feet. The face of the tunnel is five feet wide, all vein, no walls as yet. I selected samples across and around the sides, giving me an average of seven feet. I also sampled the surface for 50 feet and took an average of six feet of parallel ledge running east 400 or 500 feet. Am going to the 'Arizona group' and the 'Pick and Shovel' claims today, both of which, I am told, have big showings.

"There was another heavy snow last night and it is snowing this morning. It is almost impossible to get around on account of the deep snow. The mountains, too, are almost straight up and down. About the only thing one can see of the mineral formation on the surface of the ground is where the dikes or ledges crop above the deep snow, or where a little water is being done.

"They are a little bit crazy on prices here, but I have been successful in getting a line on some things and think I will be able to land something worth while in the near future. Everything is largely a guess insofar as figuring on locations are concerned and nothing of a permanent nature can be fixed until the snow melts. I have material for a story that will beat Dr. Cook's 'Jarbidge mile.'

"Dated February 8th."

ORGANIZING THE DUTCH VOTERS

The Holland-American Republican club was organized in a preliminary way at the court house last evening when representatives from all the voting districts of the city met in the court room and arranged for a mass-meeting of the Hollanders of Ogden, to be held in the court house on Friday evening next. G. J. Abel was made chairman and John Roghaar secretary.

Before adjourning, the Hollanders addressed a communication to the city administration regarding the appointment of Henry Denkers as assistant sanitary inspector.

Evidently the Hollanders have resolved to be recognized in the affairs of the city.

WASATCH TEAM DEFEATS THE TEAM FROM OGDEN

Heber City, Feb. 12.—The deaf mutes of Ogden were defeated in a match game of basketball here last night by the one-sided score of 45 to 17. The contest was much better than the score indicates, and the large crowd present greatly enjoyed the sport. It was quite a treat to see the deaf boys go through their signals, which for a time had the local boys going south.

ELKS PLAN A MINSTREL SHOW

Minstrelsy, as portrayed by the local lodge of Elks, will be presented at the Ogden theater, for three nights, beginning Wednesday, February 23rd. This year the show will be under the direction of Biller and Draper who have staged some of the most successful shows in the middle west and south and the Pacific coast.

Special scenery and costumes, the best local talent in Ogden, an ensemble of 50 trained voices, with a big orchestra will back the "antiered herd" in "black face" efforts in what promises to be the fastest and snappiest show ever given by the local lodge of Elks.

Rehearsals have started off in good shape and the "boys" are all hard at work on their parts. The first part, with its eight end-men, will be interspersed with marches, dances and songs by prominent Elks and the jokes will be new and their local flavor will add much to the fun of the entertainment.

On the olio, or second part, many features will be introduced which are entirely new to minstrelsy. The fun will start on Wednesday, February 23rd at noon when the minstrel men will parade the streets in full minstrel regalia, to the music of a band. The big feature act to be presented in "Hilda Hawkins' Ball," which introduces twenty singers and dances in a genuine old-time "cullud" ball.

The Elks report a big demand for tickets and the show will no doubt pack the theater at all three performances.

HERE FROM JARBIDGE COUNTRY

Clayton Gannett of Salt Lake was in Ogden this forenoon conferring with the head of the forest service as to timber permits in the Humboldt forest near the new mining camp of Jarbidge, Nevada.

Mr. Gannett, in connection with others, has the contract for stocking the mail route from Twin Falls, Idaho, to Jarbidge, and he plans establishing a sawmill near the already famous camp. As soon as the weather will permit there will be great things doing in that section of the country and that splendid results will follow.

Speaking of Jarbidge, Mr. Gannett stated that it is a heavily mineralized zone and that as soon as mining operators there have time to make developments, Jarbidge will be one of the big mining camps of the western country. The road into the camp at this time is difficult to travel, but notwithstanding that fact, a great many people are making their way into that section, and it looks as though the springtime will bring lively times. For the present, Mr. Gannett's headquarters are at Twin Falls. He states that the section of country around the Falls is moving along at a rapid pace and that great developments have been made there during the past few months. The land reclamation projects of that country have been two means of building up a prosperous community and Mr. Gannett thinks, it is only a question of a short time before Twin Falls will be classed among the leading cities of Idaho.

ECCLIES-BREWER-WRIGHT PARTY LAST EVENING

One of the most brilliant affairs given by the younger social set in Ogden during the winter season was held at the home of Miss Cella Eccles, 2555 Jefferson avenue, last evening. Invitations were out for a large number of guests, and the charming young hostesses, Miss Cella Eccles, Miss Beatrice Brewer and Miss Lillian Wright, had planned a delightful evening, no detail being overlooked.

Cards and hearts were the diversion of the evening, an orchestra in an alcove in the large hall behind a screen of palms furnishing a fine musical program, the latest and most popular being greatly enjoyed by the guests.

The card room was gorgeously decorated in red, little red hearts and cupid and festoons of smilax covering the walls; in vases were red carnations and smilax, long red ribbon bows suspended from the chandeliers and attached to the bows were cute little hearts and cupid of various sizes.

The reception hall was also decorated in red; red carnations and pretty ferns, beautifully arranged; red ribbons with hearts and cupid arranged similar to the card room effect; the lights, of which there were sixteen in the hall and on the stairs, were shaded in red and hung with the red hearts and little cupid. Red punch and red candles were served by two little girls, Marian Wright and Vivian Eccles.

The parlors were exquisitely decorated in pink, with festoons of smilax and pink carnations.

In the dining room pink carnations and smilax were also the decorations.
